

SK-II
SIGNS
EYE MASK

A quick eye fix after a late night out

When stars look sleepy, Hilary Duff's makeup artist, Nick Barose in N.Y.C., grabs an SK-II Signs eye mask. "Fifteen minutes with this miracle worker, and dark circles and puffy eyes are a thing of the past," he says. $95; saks.com.

The newest antiaging treatment from France

Dermatologist David Colbert of N.Y.C. is always on the hunt for items to make clients like Rachel Weisz look even younger. His choice? "La Roche Posay Redermic is a skin softener that stimulates healing." $42/1.35 oz.; laroche-posay.us.

Hairspray that's light as a feather

N.Y.C. stylist Noah Hatton, who has worked with Halle Berry, opts for Redken Workforce 09 Flexible volumizing spray to complete nearly every style. "No matter how much I use," he says, "it never leaves a sticky buildup." $15; at Redken salons.

The most unlikely skin softener

"Creative Nail Design Solar Oil is designed to moisturize dry nails and cuticles," says dermatologist Pat Wexler of N.Y.C. (Sarah Michelle Gellar is a client). "But I use it on knees, heels and even elbows." $11; ulta.com.

True-to-hue home hair color

Time to touch up your roots? Steve Beeson, N.Y.C. colorist to Holly Hunter, is a fan of Clairol Natural Instincts. "Unlike with other home kits, the color you get is identical to the one shown on the box," he says. $10; drugstore.com.
