

Hollywood's $800 facial: The secret to Angelina Jolie's glowing skin combines microdermabrasion, laser and a peel

• The Triad facial, created by New York dermatologist David Colbert, is also loved by Naomi Watts, Rachel Weisz, Michelle Williams and Robin Wright

By MARGOT PEPPERS

PUBLISHED: 15:38 EST, 5 June 2014 | UPDATED: 16:18 EST, 5 June 2014

 Share  Tweet  Pin it  +1  Share 172 shares  View comments

Angelina Jolie turned 39 on Wednesday, but thanks to her flawless skin she doesn't seem to have aged in years.

Now, according to Us Weekly, the secret to her youthful appearance has been revealed: an $800 treatment called the Triad facial, administered by New York dermatologist David Colbert, which combines microdermabrasion, laser and a glycolic peel.

Dr Colbert, whose office is in Manhattan, has also treated Naomi Watts, Michelle Williams and Rachel Weisz, all of whom are fans of the Triad facial.

© Imaginetchina/REX
Skin secret: Angelina Jolie, 39, (pictured on Tuesday) reportedly owes her flawless complexion to the Triad facial, an $800 treatment developed by New York dermatologist David Colbert

Magic formula: The facial combines microdermabrasion, laser and a glycolic peel

Angelina reportedly first met Dr Colbert in 2010 on the set of Salt, where he treated her for a minor cut. Since then, she has come to swear by his 30-minute treatments.

The Oscar winner also uses Dr Colbert's line of skincare products, which range in price from $52 for a purifying cleanser to $165 for night cream.

More...

- Does the amount of make-up you wear affect how people treat you? Student tries three different looks to find out
- 'Squats are the key! Even 10 make me feel better': Victoria's Secret Angel Candice Swanepoel reveals secrets behind that body

According to his website, the Triad facial is a three-part process: gentle microdermabrasion to remove dead skin cells, then laser toning to even pigmentation, and finally a gentle chemical peel that 'imparts a fresh, youthful radiance and silkiness to skin.'

It can cost between $800 and $1,200, depending on the type and strength of the chemical peel as well as the number of laser pulses performed.

One of the benefits of the treatment is that it doesn't produce redness, which means A-listers can have it last-minute before attending important events.

'It gives immediate results and, most importantly, there's no downtime,' the dermatologist told the Hollywood Reporter.

Dr Colbert first gained attention in 2010, after Naomi Watts said in Life & Style magazine that she credited his skin care line for her flawless complexion.

© Getty Images for Los Angeles Con

© James McCauley/REX

Celebrity following: House of Cards actress Robin Wright, 48, (pictured left on Wednesday) and 45-year-old Naomi Watts (right, on May 16) are also fans of the Triad facial

© Getty Images For BAFTA Los Angel

© WireImage

Supporters: Michelle Williams, 33, (left in 2012) apparently visited Dr Colbert's temporary clinic in Beverly Hills before this year's Oscars. And Rachel Weisz, 44, (right, in 2013) swears by his treatments, too

Oprah endorsed his 'heal and soothe' night cream in the July 2010 issue of O Magazine, and Fitness magazine featured his facial disks as some of the 'secrets to perfect skin' in the February 2013 issue.

In February, Dr Colbert set up a temporary pre-Oscar beauty clinic in Beverly Hills, so that actresses could enjoy a 20-minute version of his signature Triad facial before hitting the red carpet.

Robin Wright, Emma Stone and Heidi Klum all apparently visited the temporary clinic before the big event

Read more:
Angelina Jolie's Glowing Skin Care Secret: All the Details
Naomi Watts' Derm Spills Oscars Skin Secrets

Site Web Search

 Like Daily Mail  Follow @Femal

 Follow Daily Mail  +1 Daily Mail

